Crow Wing County Extends Date County Offices are Not Open to Walk-in Traffic until April 30th—County Services Continue Online and By Phone

Based on new extended guidance from the President about limiting unnecessary person-to-person contact, Crow Wing County has extended the date on how it delivers services to the public and will not be allowing public entry to county buildings through at least April 30, 2020. Crow Wing County remains open to serving the public and is providing services through telephone, e-mail, and online services.

“We are doing everything we can to still provide vital county services to those who need them while practice safe social distancing guidelines for the health of all residents and our employees. We continue to be open for business, just not in the traditional way. We are following the guidelines from federal and state leaders and will continue to keep the health and safety of our residents a top priority.” said County Administrator Tim Houle.
